

School of Channelling Newsletter

April 2007

Foreword from H-A

It was my wish that a school of channelling should be created. Because as you know, in my understanding, everyone is psychic. As we near the Age of Aquarius and this individual approach to spiritual understanding develops, I feel it is so important that people are able to use their intuitive process in a safe way that can really uplift them to a different dimension and level of understanding. The joy of developing that intuitive side can extend to every level of your being, in your hobbies, in your business and in your understanding. We are at a time, a very important time in the evolution of planet earth. A time when there is going to be a whole new orientation in individual understanding and development. I would also like to say, that I find it very appropriate that the school should be relaunched at this particular time because in the year 2007 energies are going to start to really develop and move forward. A lot of the frustration and the uncertainties of the past will disappear and there will be a new understanding on many levels. You are already beginning to see in relation to things like climate change and the environment. Let us join together to send out unconditional love forgiveness and respect to Gaia, the guidance of planet earth, and to all who experience on it, in what ever form of evolution. And may those who come to the School of Channelling benefit and move forward in a constructive, positive and loving way. I thank you for allowing me to make this introduction and hope that it will fill the hearts of many of you. I hope to be able to regularly offer thoughts and ideas for this newsletter, so dearest friends don't hesitate to send any questions in that you would like me to answer. My blessings to each and every one of you, and my love.

H-A

Foreword from Tony Neate, Patron.

As one of the founders of the School of Channelling, I am delighted to welcome the idea of a newsletter. Under the management of Director, Rob May, the SOC is moving into a new area of opportunity for all psychically sensitive people. What the school will be offering in the future will be an updated approach on many levels.

A new concept, which will apply to a wide level of potentials, from mediums, to spiritual seekers and business entrepreneurs – what a target!

So Rob, our thoughts and support will be with you in this new, widened approach to the idea of connecting with those other planes of consciousness. Here's to the future of the SOC>

Letter from the MD

It is an exciting time for the School of Channelling. Over the past year we have been working hard to look at what the essence of the School is, and how it as an organisation can better meet the changing needs of students. To do this we have carried out a survey of current and former students, getting valuable feedback which has had a strong influence of the Schools development. We have reviewed the workshops, leading to the development of 2 new one day workshops. We have developed a membership programme, which will be further developed in the months/years to come, and we have revamped the website to support these changes. As a result, we hope that you will find it much easier to engage with the School, but more than this, that you will want to be involved. Channelling is a skill that in the least aids in the development of intuition and creativity but for many can be much more, helping individuals find meaning through a 'time-out' from our often hectic lives. The School is working to make workshops,

(cont) including CDG's, able to be run on a more local basis, making it more convenient for students. There are already plans to develop new workshops to explore channelling in a more creative way, for example art, writing and music. The School of Channelling has only one reason to exist, its students. We are working to build a School that will provide you with an environment and the support you want to explore the limits of your consciousness. It is an exciting time for the School of Channelling, join us on the journey.

The new workshop format

The new format one-day workshops: Simply Channelling and Channelling Guidance are new workshops to the Schools portfolio. These bite size workshops allow those of us to fit a single day for our own development into our busy schedules, particularly when a full weekend is not possible. Simply Channelling forms a foundation for those new to channelling with a focus on protection and safe channelling. It is a prerequisite for all of the School's workshops and the price includes a copy of 'Channelling for Everyone' written by Tony Neate, the Schools Patron.

Channelling Guidance is all about putting these skills into practice and finding the specific guidance for each individual. This workshop is designed to allow students the opportunity to practice channelling in a safe and structured environment and is suitable to be attended repeatedly.

Weekend Residential Workshops, which have long been the dominant form of the Schools programme, will still continue to be run. However these will be arranged initially on an 'ad hoc' basis from those students regularly attending the Channelling Guidance Workshops. These will potentially develop into Channelling Development Groups (CDG's). If you have already been through the School's workshops previously and would like to join an existing or form a new CDG, then please e-mail us at:

Summary of Survey Findings

The survey elicited responses from 44 individuals out of just over 100 surveys sent. When asked what would increase the relevance of the School of Channelling, half of these respondents wanted regular newsletters, a membership programme, local workshops, a greater variety of workshops and affiliations with other spiritual development organisations. A further third of respondents also claimed access to recordings of H-A, more frequent workshops, a web-based discussion forum, the opportunity to become a tutor and affiliations with universities would also increase relevance. Almost 60% of respondents wanted to be a part of the School's future. Three quarters of respondents also wanted the School to contact them regarding future workshops, developments with the School, and a newsletter/e-bulletin, while 64% were interested in participating in future research, 54% in CDG's and 40% in becoming a tutor.

Respondents also expressed what skills and experience tutors were expected to have. How much they would be willing to pay for downloading channelling content, one-day and weekend workshops and how much a tutor should earn for each of these.

We also asked those that have ceased being involved in the School's programme of workshops the main reasons why. The information we received confirmed much of what we suspected, but importantly provided us evidence to support the direction of the School's development.

All in all, the feedback that has been received has given an extremely valuable insight into what you as a student expects from the School of Channelling.

Congratulations to Liz Speller too, the lucky winner of the Amazon voucher. Liz also said "thank goodness I joined your organisation to meet and share the benefit of being taught by such insightful people."

Getting in touch

Do you have any stories to tell of your channelling experiences? Have you been through the School's workshops already and are looking to do another on, or join a CDG? Or do you have some ideas or feedback for us?
